

University of Richmond
Robins School of Business
Richmond, Virginia 23173
University Web Site: <http://www.richmond.edu>

The E. Claiborne Robins Distinguished Professorship in Business

The Robins School of Business invites inquiries, nominations, and applications for the E. Claiborne Robins Distinguished Professorship in Business. Candidates must have a demonstrated commitment to academic excellence, an outstanding record of scholarly research, an international reputation among professional peers in the field of international business and recognized excellence in teaching. Screening for the position will begin July 1, 2004, and continue until the position is filled. The E. Claiborne Robins Distinguished Professorship in Business is a five-year-term faculty position. The starting date is Fall, 2005. Salary will be highly competitive, commensurate with experience and qualifications. Applicants must submit a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, and a list of four references with contact information to:

Dr. Dana Lascu
Robins School of Business
University of Richmond
Richmond, VA 23173

Please note that Dean Karen Newman of the Robins School will be attending the AIB Annual Conference in Stockholm.

The University of Richmond is a private, highly selective university with a rising national and international profile. The institution is consistently ranked one of the nation's top universities by U.S. News & World Report and other college guides. The University is noted for its challenging academic programs, excellent facilities, commitment to undergraduate education, and strong resource base, including an endowment exceeding one billion dollars. An ambitious 10-year strategic plan provides a strong sense of momentum for the future. Richmond has a full-time enrollment of approximately 3,400 in schools of arts and sciences, business, law, and leadership studies. In addition, the University enrolls approximately 1,300 part-time students through a school of continuing studies. Over 90% of the full-time undergraduates live on campus, more than half are involved in internships, and two-thirds participate in community service.

Located two hours south of Washington, D.C., Richmond has a population of one million, and as state capital, is home to numerous financial, cultural and civic organizations. The University's campus, annually named one of the nation's most beautiful, is located six miles west of downtown and offers an extraordinary quality of life for faculty, staff and students.

The University is an equal opportunity employer.