

FACULTY POSITION IN INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS

The Huizenga School at Nova Southeastern University invites applications for a full-time faculty position in International Business. While we encourage and will accept applications at all levels, the preferred rank is that of Assistant Professor. The position is open for Fall, 2005, or to be determined. Candidates should have an active program of scholarly research which is leading to publications in higher level journals and demonstrate commitment to excellent undergraduate and graduate teaching with a preference for teaching working professionals.

The business school has significant needs for a scholar in IB, offering a minor in IB for undergraduates, and a uniquely specialized Master's degree in International Business, as well as an MBA degree, and a DBA degree. NSU offers courses in remote sites, nationally and internationally, and via the web, as well as in South Florida. The selected candidate would be expected to teach in the Fort Lauderdale and Miami campuses, primarily in the Master of International Business Administration, and also the undergraduate program. A wide range of course offerings allows for considerable flexibility in teaching assignments. The student body is largely international, with a high percentage of working professionals in our weekend programs (MIBA).

The primary teaching interests for this position are in international business and strategy, and applicants should have a degree in IB/Strategy, with secondary interests in one of the following; entrepreneurship, international legal, international supply chain, international management. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Interviews will be offered at the Academy of International Business, Quebec City, Canada, beginning July 9th, 2005.
