

University of Bradford and University of Leeds

EPSRC Funded Research Assistant - Knowledge, Skills and Productivity in Retailing

Ref: RMN2315/THES

Salary up to £21,640 per annum

This EPSRC funded research project is a joint endeavour between the Universities of Leeds and Bradford. It involves qualitative case study research into both overseas and UK-owned retailers and focuses specifically on employee skills (including soft skills) and firm knowledge practices. Candidates should have experience of qualitative research and a good honours degree in management, sociology, industrial relations or a related subject and ideally a doctorate. For informal enquiries please contact Professor Jeremy Clegg at Leeds on ljc@lubs.leeds.ac.uk or 0113 343 4512/6749 or Professor Irena Grugulis at Bradford on I.Grugulis@bradford.ac.uk or 01274 234331.

In line with our commitment to 'confronting inequality: celebrating diversity' we have a diverse workforce. We would particularly welcome applications from people from minority ethnic backgrounds, women, and people with disabilities, since these groups are still under-represented within our workforce.

Closing date: 12th July 2005

How to apply: jobs@bradford.ac.uk, tel: 01274 233091 (minicom: 01274 235807). For more information see:
www.bradford.ac.uk/jobs

Applications submitted by agencies will not be considered.

Confronting Inequality : Celebrating Diversity