

George Washington University
Department of International Business

The Department of International Business at the George Washington University may receive funding authorization for a tenure track position beginning academic year 2007-08.

The department offers an undergraduate, masters and doctoral program, and has a diverse faculty and student body with respect to geographic origin and professional experience. The full time faculty is complemented by adjunct professors drawn from the International Monetary Fund, the World Bank and the growing international business community in the Washington D.C. area. The School of Business degree programs are fully AACSB accredited. For additional information, please visit the department website at <http://www.ibusdept.com>. As noted above, funding for this position is being sought, but has not yet been approved.

Professor Hildy Teegen will be in attendance at the Academy of International Business meetings in Beijing and will meet informally with interested parties during that time. If you would like to schedule a time to meet with her, please send her an email at teegen@gwu.edu prior to June 20, 2006.

The George Washington University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.
