Assistant/Associate Professor of International Business POSITION OPEN FOR FALL 2008

Job Description: The Graduate School of Management (GSOM) at Clark University invites applications for a full-time tenure track position as Assistant or Associate Professor of International Business beginning in Fall 2008. The successful applicant will be expected to maintain a program of high quality research within the broadly defined area of International Business, and to play a role in shaping the curriculum for GSOM's International Business MBA concentration. Teaching responsibilities will be primarily at the MBA level.

Requirements: Applicants are expected to have a completed doctoral degree from an AACSB-International accredited institution by August 2008. Evidence or promise of excellence in teaching and research will be required. Relevant business or professional experience will enhance the candidacy, as will a secondary interest in cross-cultural leadership, strategic management or entrepreneurship.

Clark University is attractively located in the heart of New England. In addition to offering programs on the main campus in Worcester, GSOM operates a satellite campus in Metrowest-Boston. GSOM is Clark's only professional school, with a full-time faculty of nineteen, and has been accredited by AACSB International since 1986; it offers BA, MBA (full-time and part-time), and MSF degrees. A number of GSOM faculty members are actively engaged in research with an international focus.

To Apply: Please send application letter, vita, three references, a statement of teaching philosophy and research agenda to: Dr. Joseph Sarkis, Professor of Management, Graduate School of Management, Clark University, 950 Main Street, Worcester, MA 01610 or email: global@clarku.edu.

Joseph Sarkis and other representatives will be attending both the Academy of International Business and the Academy of Management Conferences in Summer 2007.

AA/EOE Minorities and women are strongly encouraged to apply.
