

McMaster University, Hamilton, Ontario, Canada
DeGroot School of Business,
Tenure-track Assistant Professor in International Business (starting July 2009)

Job Description

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in International Business. The successful candidate is expected to engage in research leading to publications in high-quality scholarly journals. Candidates must have a demonstrated ability/potential to conduct high-quality scholarly research publishable in top-tier outlets on topics related to international business as evidenced by publications in scholarly journals, research papers in progress, and/or recommendations by highly respected scholars as references. The successful candidate's main responsibilities include teaching in the area of international business and/or strategic management at the undergraduate and MBA levels. Applicants must demonstrate teaching excellence as indicated by teaching assessments and/or teaching letters of recommendation.

The Group

The discipline of International Business shares one administrative unit with the disciplines of Marketing, Strategy and Health Service Management (under the Strategic Market Leadership and Health Services Management Area in the school). Interdisciplinary research leading to publications in top tier journals is highly encouraged. In the last few years the Area faculty has published in journals such as Strategic Management Journal, Academy of Management Journal, Organization Science, Management International Review, Marketing Science, Journal of Product Innovation Management, Journal of Law and Economics and others. The Area faculty's research have been generously funded by Canadian government research funding sources such as SSHRC, CHIR, provincial sources such as ORDCF as well as by private sector. The university also provides generous funds for research related activities. The school is in the process of developing professionally oriented executive development programs which may provide opportunities to teach in such programs as well. For more information on the Area, please visit: www.degroot.mcmaster.ca.

Contact and Application Process

In order to be considered, applicants are requested to submit a cover letter, statement of research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae, research samples (published articles or working papers), evidence of teaching effectiveness, names and contact information of at least three references to: Dr. Ashish Pujari, Chair, SML&HSM Area, DeGroot School of Business, McMaster University, 1280 Main Street West, Hamilton, ON L8S-4M4; or at pujarid@mcmaster.ca.

Informal enquiries can be made to Professor Toru Yoshikawa (yoshikat@mcmaster.ca) who will attend the 2008 Annual AIB conference in Milan, Italy. Please contact Prof. Yoshikawa to set up appointments if you are interested to meet with him during the conference.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and Permanent Residents will be given priority. McMaster University is strongly committed to employment equity within its community, and to recruiting a diverse faculty and staff. The University encourages applications from all qualified candidates, including women, members of visible minorities, Aboriginal persons, members of sexual minorities, and persons with disabilities.

Applications will be considered until the position is filled. Salary will be competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.
