

The School of Economics & Management of Universidade Nova de Lisboa, an EQUIS and AMBA-accredited institution encompassing the areas of Economics and Business Administration, is opening a tenure-track position in International Business at the level of Assistant Professor. The School may also consider applications of outstanding quality from candidates willing to come to Portugal with the main purpose of doing academic research. Applicants must hold, or be about to complete, a Ph.D. in Business. Responsibilities include academic research and a teaching load of 110 hours per year at undergraduate, master's, graduate and MBA levels. Though junior faculty is expected to concentrate on research, executive education may be available in the medium run. Classes are taught in English and knowledge of Portuguese is not a requirement. Candidates shall be ranked according to their research potential and teaching ability. Other positions (non-tenure track) at all levels may also be considered. Gross annual compensation is in the range EUR 55,000 TO 85,000.

Representatives (Prof. José Mata and Prof. Luís Lages) will attend the AIB Annual Conference in Milan. Applications including cover letter, CV, research paper(s) and three recommendation letters, should reach the School no later than June 20, 2008 and be sent to: Universidade Nova de Lisboa, Faculdade de Economia, c/o Professor Maria A. Cunha-e-Sá, Reference R1, Campus de Campolide, PT-1099-032 LISBOA, PORTUGAL. More information can be obtained from Elvira Afonso (mea@fe.unl.pt)