

Department of Management, Innovation, and Entrepreneurship
College of Management
North Carolina State University
Raleigh, NC

Faculty Position in strategy and international business

The Department of Management, Innovation, and Entrepreneurship (MIE) at NC State University's College of Management invites applications for a position in strategy and international business to begin in August, 2009. The position will be at a junior or senior faculty level. An earned Ph.D. in a relevant area is required; candidates close to completing the Ph.D. will be considered at the assistant professor rank. Advanced ranks require significant scholarship and impact commensurate with rank. Preference will be given to candidates with experience and research interests in areas compatible with MIE's focus on strategic and international applications of technology commercialization, innovation management, and strategy in high technology environments. Candidates with real-world business management and executive education experience are encouraged to apply. A strong commitment to excellence in teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels and to research and publications is emphasized. The salary will be competitive.

North Carolina State University is located in Raleigh, NC, within minutes of the technology-rich companies of the Research Triangle region and also quite near Duke University and UNC at Chapel Hill. (<http://www.visitraleigh.com/>). With some 31,000 students and over 100 degree programs at the bachelor's, master's, first professional, and doctoral levels, NC State University is a major research university with traditional strengths in science and technology research. Its 1000-acre Centennial Campus adjoins the 700-acre main campus and has been recently selected as the Best University Research Park in the United States.

Highly interdisciplinary in nature, the MIE department has faculty with research programs in strategy, management of technology and innovation, organizational leadership, HR, and entrepreneurship. The MIE department and other departments in the College of Management house several distinguished academic centers, including the Center for Innovation Management Studies, Supply Chain Research Consortium, Enterprise Risk Management Initiative, High Technology Commercialization, and Entrepreneurship & Innovation Management Initiative (<http://www.mgt.ncsu.edu/>).

Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. For additional information and to apply, interested candidates should visit <http://jobs.ncsu.edu/>: refer to vacancy EPV 09-53-0803. Vitae and three (3) letters of recommendation along with the contact information are required with submission of application. Professor Beverly Tyler (Beverly_Tyler@ncsu.edu) will be attending the AIB in Milan, July 1-3, 2008 for those interested in speaking with her concerning the position. MIE faculty will also be attending the AOM in Anaheim, California, and SMS in Cologne, Germany.

M COLLEGE OF MANAGEMENT

<http://www.mgt.ncsu.edu/>

North Carolina State University is dedicated to equality of opportunity within its community. Accordingly, North Carolina State does not practice or condone discrimination in any form against students, employees or applicants on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, age veteran status, or disability. In addition, NC State welcomes all persons without regard to sexual orientation. Persons with disabilities requiring accommodations in the application and interview process please call (919) 515-3148.