An Invitation to Attend

ACADEMY OF INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS Annual Meeting

Tapatio Cliffs Pointe Hilton Resort
Phoenix, Arizona • November 17-20, 2000

Conference Theme

“In Search of Relevance for International Business Research: Impact on Management and Public Policy”

Scholarship in any discipline is ultimately judged by its impact on practice as well as public policy. While advancing the theoretical and conceptual foundations of the international business discipline, scholars must also be concerned about: (a) the relevance of their research for management action; (b) applicability of their research frameworks and objectives to business situations; and (c) usefulness of their research findings for enhancing business practice and public policy making.

The 2000 meeting of the Academy of International Business will provide an opportunity for critically examining the relevance and impact of international business scholarship for business practice and public policy. In addition, the meeting will aim at: (a) showcasing the best international business research with managerial and public policy implications; and (b) sharing industry, corporate, and public sector-sponsored research with participants. It is hoped that the meeting provides an occasion for meaningful, intellectual exchange with thoughtful members of the business (banking, consulting, and others) and public policy (international agencies, government agencies, etc.) communities. The meeting will also serve as a forum for various stakeholder groups in international business research to discuss present and future collaboration.

AIB Vice President and 2000 Program Chair from

Host School

Thunderbird, The American Graduate School of International Management, is the world's oldest and largest graduate school of international management. Thunderbird today enrolls almost 1,500 graduate students, who represent about 80 nations. Professors Robert Grosse and Humberto "Bert" Valencia of Thunderbird serve as our principal liaisons.

Thunderbird's unique approach to international business education is based on a three-part curriculum, which includes instruction in global business, international politics and modern languages. The faculty is composed of 110 scholars representing the departments World Business, International Studies and Modern Languages.

Thunderbird operates extensive executive education programs for working managers, which each year draw participation from more than 3,500 business leaders from around the world. In addition to its main campus in Glendale, the school has educational facilities in France, Japan, Russia, and China, as well as a distance learning degree program that serves Mexico, Peru and Ecuador. Thunderbird's 31,000 alumni live and work in every state in the U.S. and in more than 133 nations.

Heard Museum

Registrants will be treated to a gala evening hosted by Thunderbird at the Heard Museum on Sunday, November 19.

Imagine traveling through time - seeing the crafts and the culture of the Native Americans who inhabited this land hundreds of years ago. Listen as the museum guides explain the fascinating myths and facts surrounding the pottery, beadwork and textiles that await you in the many galleries of the Heard Museum. And be sure not to miss the Kachina Doll Collection - these dolls are from the collections of the late Senator Barry M. Goldwater and Business Man Fred Harvey.

Meanwhile, for those of you with an appetite, the wonderful flavors of Southwestern cuisine are yours to enjoy at various buffets - quesadillas, chili, corn muffins, shrimp tacos with tomatillo salsa, and so much more! Also listen for the sounds of the strolling flute players and other Native American musicians, and take time to be dazzled by Native American Hoop Dancers - an exhilarating performance - rich in costume and showmanship.

The internationally acclaimed Heard Museum is one of the best places to experience and to learn about the fascinating cultures and art of Native Americans of the Southwest. The museum is known for its extensive collection of artifacts and fine art from the Southwest.

A water fountain is a central feature of the Heard's newly bricked Central Courtyard.

The exhibit More Than Art is an introduction to the art and cultures of the Southwest.

Pointe Golf Course on Lookout Mountain Tapatio Cliffs Pointe Hilton Hotel and Resort

Glenn Omura of Michigan State University has kindly volunteered to organize a golf tournament for the AIB meeting in Phoenix.

The hotel's magnificent par-72 Bill Johnston course has garnered many honors, weaving through rugged terrain that borders the Phoenix Mountain Preserve and offering spectacular views of both Lookout Mountain and Squaw Peak. Golf Digest named it one of the 450 best public courses in the country, and Lookout Mountain has been consistently voted one of the top 25 golf courses in the state of Arizona. The course has hosted The Arizona Senior Classic, the NBC Skills Challenge and the Western States Tour. This is an exciting course for players of all skill levels, with a combination of both desert and traditional golf layouts.

Valuable prizes will be awarded for longest drive, longest putt, closest to the hole, etc. The Callaway handicapping system will be used to compute total scores.

The price includes Greens fees, golf car fees, 1 sleeve of 3 balls, practice balls, course information guides and applicable taxes. Gentlemen are required to wear a sleeved shirt with collar; ladies are not permitted to wear halter-tops or swimsuit tops. Please avoid denim products. Soft spike preferred.

Play begins at 9:00 a.m. with a shotgun start on Friday. The first Conference event begins at 6:00 p.m. on Friday.

Interested parties should complete the form below and attach it to their registration forms. Payment must be included with your registration fee in order to reserve your spot. Please direct questions regarding the tournament to the coordinator Glenn Omura <omura@msu.edu> via e-mail.

2000 Doctoral Consortium

The Academy of International Business will offer a consortium for doctoral students on Friday, November 17 at the 2000 AIB Annual Meeting in Phoenix, Arizona. Ravi Ramamurti of Northeastern University is organizing the consortium. A number of leading international business researchers will serve as speakers for the event.

These faculty will also present their interpretation of important and emerging research areas in international business and lead discussions on several topics. The emphasis will be placed on issue-oriented research, which may transcend traditional functional boundaries.

Selection of students should be made carefully by the nominating school. The candidates must be nominated by a faculty member who should write a letter stating the student's interests and abilities.

Preference is given to doctoral candidates who have finished the equivalent of doctoral examinations but who have not yet completed the bulk of their dissertation work. Since the number of participants will be capped at 20, selection criteria will be focused on quality, as well as on achieving diversity in disciplinary and interdisciplinary orientations. The Academy of International Business will provide $500 travel stipends to those students that are unable to find funding elsewhere and apply for a stipend. Stipends will be determined on a case-by-case basis.

Please send two copies of the letter (including the contact person's e-mail address) and supporting material (which includes a 300 word- maximum abstract of the student's current research topic) by June 25, 2000 to:

E-mail: rramamurti@cba.neu.edu

Note: The consortium will be held at Thunderbird, The American Graduate School of International Management. Buses leave from the Pointe Hilton Resort at 9:15 a.m. and will return at 5:00 p.m.

2000 Junior Faculty Consortium

The Academy of International Business is organizing a Junior Faculty Consortium at its Annual Meeting in Phoenix, Arizona. The consortium will be held on Friday, November 17.

All faculty active in research and teaching in international business are invited to participate, although preference will be given to scholars who have been teaching international business for less than four years.

The consortium will be led by a group of senior and junior faculty members. We will engage in a discussion about scholarship and careers in international business. In addition, this venue will provide an excellent opportunity for participants to meet and interact with colleagues at similar stages in their careers.

To apply, please send a letter stating your interest in attending by September 1, 2000 (please include an e-mail address in your correspondence). In addition to your letter, please include the following information on one page:

- 1) A one-paragraph biography to provide others with a description of your academic background.
- 2) A one-paragraph description of your current international business research interests.

Send your application to:

Dissertation Award

The "Richard N. Farmer Award" for the best dissertation in international business is open to all Ph.D. and D.B.A. students who successfully defend their dissertations between June 1, 1999 and May 31, 2000. Any topic that contributes to basic or applied knowledge in international business broadly defined is eligible to compete for this award, even if the dissertation has been to other competitions. Finalists will be invited to present their papers at the 2000 AIB Annual Meeting in Phoenix, Arizona, November 17-20, 2000. In addition, the winner will receive a $1,000 cash award.

The deadline for nominations is May 31, 2000. The nomination packet should include: (1) a letter of nomination from the student's supervising professor and (2) five copies of an abstract, not exceeding 3,750 words (approximately 15 pages at 250 words per page), of the successfully defended dissertation. The abstract should describe the dissertation's objective, theoretical foundation, relation to previous research, methodology, findings, limitations, and contributions to the field of international business.

The Farmer Award Committee consists of Raj Aggarwal (John Carroll University), Nakiye Boyacigiller (San Jose State University), Bernard Simonin (Tufts University), Kiyohiko Ito (University of Wisconsin-Madison) and is chaired by Jean-Francois Hennart (Tilburg University).

The committee will select the finalists, who then will be asked to submit their complete dissertations for review and will be expected to make presentations at the AIB annual meeting November 17-20, 2000 in Phoenix, Arizona. (Visit <http://www.hawaii.edu/aib> for the most up-to-date information on the meeting.)
