Position title or area, rank, position requirements:
Lecturer/ Senior Lecturer, Department of Management and International Business, University of Auckland Business School, New Zealand

The Department of Management and International Business (MIB), in conjunction with the Graduate School of Enterprise (GSE) at the University of Auckland Business School, is seeking to fill up to six positions in the areas of: Entrepreneurship and Research Commercialisation, Innovation, Leadership, Management, Organisation Studies, Strategy, International Business.

The vacancies arise from new initiatives in MIB and the GSE, as well as replacement and succession planning. From 2012 a new major – Innovation and Entrepreneurship – will be added to the existing majors of Management and International Business. New cross-faculty qualifications in commercialisation and innovation are also planned. These in turn arise from a curriculum review, and developments in the wider University of Auckland, and the New Zealand economy.

We are seeking to appoint scholar-educators with outstanding records or potential in the above areas, who can also contribute to the dynamic and cooperative culture of MIB. Relevant professional experience will be important for those wishing to teach in the GSE, which is responsible for professional programmes. Levels of appointment range from entry level Lecturer to Senior lecturer. The appointments are intended to position MIB and the GSE for the future, in New Zealand’s Internationally top-ranked university. Applicants are asked to indicate which of the above areas they can contribute to, and the level of appointment they seek. Whilst specialist expertise is expected, flexibility and the ability to cover more than one specialist area in teaching are also important.

The Department of Management and International Business is one of the largest and most diversified in Australasia, with approximately 1,100 EFTS enrolled in undergraduate, executive, and postgraduate programmes. Located in the new purpose-built Owen G. Glenn Building, the Department has a vibrant research and postgraduate culture – with research clusters in International Business, HRM, Work, Employment and Organisation Studies, Leadership, Innovation and Entrepreneurship, Maori Business Development, and Business and Society. The Department has strong links to the Mira Szászy Research Centre for Maori and Pacific Business Development, the New Zealand Leadership Institute, and the ICEHOUSE (International Centre for Entrepreneurship), New Zealand Asia Institute, the Europe Institute, and centres of excellence in Bioscience and ICT.

The University of Auckland is New Zealand’s largest university with 40,000 students. The University of Auckland Business School is New Zealand’s premier business school and is internationally recognised for the quality of its education and research. The Business School’s major teaching activities are a large undergraduate program, a highly regarded MBA program, and research-based postgraduate honours, masters, and PhD programs. The Business School also has an extensive and expanding portfolio of executive programs. The School is accredited by AACSB International, EQUIS, AMBA, the New Zealand Institute of Chartered Accountants, and CPA Australia. Starting date 2012
