Assistant/Associate Professor of International Management
St. John’s University
The Peter J. Tobin College of Business

The management department of the Peter J. Tobin College of Business at St. John’s University invites applications for a tenure track position in the area of international management at the rank of assistant/associate professor for the academic year 2013-14.

The successful candidate will be a demonstrated researcher contributing to the advancement of the international management field and have a proven ability to be an effective teacher at both the undergraduate and master’s levels. Related business experience is desirable. Candidates should have completed their Ph.D. at the time of the beginning of their employment.

The salary is highly competitive with additional generous benefits.

The candidate is expected to teach undergraduate and graduate classes, publish in national and international journals, excel in teaching and be involved in service activities.

Applicants should send their application with their C.V. and supporting materials to:
John Angelidis, Ph.D.
Chair, Management Department
The Peter J. Tobin College of Business
St. John’s University
8000 Utopia Turnpike
Jamaica, NY 11439
Or e-mailed at angelidj@stjohns.edu

Established in 1868, St. John’s University is a Catholic, Vincentian, Metropolitan University located in New York with campuses in Queens, Manhattan, Staten Island, Rome Italy, Paris France. The university has a student body of about 20,000 students from all over the world. It is one of the most diverse universities in the U.S.A. The Peter J. Tobin College of Business of St. John’s University, established in 1927, offers AACSB international-accredited B.S., M.S. and M.B.A. degrees. There are approximately 100 full-time faculty and 3,000 students in the College. The college is involved in a plethora of global initiatives including international programs, global destination courses, global business stewardship center, and global micro-financing.

Dr. Angelidis will attend the conference.