The Global Management Studies department invites applications for one tenure-stream faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor. This position is subject to final budgetary approval.

The position is directed to a PhD in management, international business or a closely related discipline. Geographic expertise in Latin America, Africa or the Middle East is a requirement. The successful candidate would be expected to have a track record of scholarship. Preference may be given to candidates with research interests in areas such as: Third World Multinationals; Foreign Market Entry Strategies, Business Sustainability or Cultural Analytics.

The successful candidate will have demonstrated evidence of teaching excellence at the undergraduate level, a capacity for collaboration and collegial service and an interest in working with our student group on case competitions. Prior international private/public sector work experience is highly desirable.

Please forward your detailed curriculum vitae, one-page statement of teaching and research interests, a copy of a sample publication, a copy of a teaching evaluation, and names of three references to:

Dr. Carlyle Farrell, Chair
Global Management Studies
Ted Rogers School of Business Management
