Non-Tenure Track Faculty Position in International Business
Starting Date: 7/1/2013

The Strategic Management Department in the Fox School of Business at Temple University seeks applications for two Non-Tenure Track faculty positions in the International Business area, starting fall 2013. The primary responsibilities of the Non-Tenure Track appointments will be teaching and providing service to the school. An ability to teach at multiple levels (undergraduate, MBA and Executive MBA) and across courses in Strategy and Entrepreneurship will be considered advantageous.

Qualified candidates should hold an ABD, Ph.D., D.BA or foreign equivalent, and must provide evidence of effective teaching. Although preference will be given to Academically Qualified (AQ) applicants, Professionally Qualified (PQ) applicants will also be considered. The Fox School provides a competitive package, including support for research and conference attendance.

Materials submitted must include a letter of interest, vitae/resume, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and three letters of reference. Please address materials to the Recruitment Committee and email to strategy@temple.edu by April 1, 2013. If you prefer to mail the documents, please send them to:
