Welcome to the first AIB conference of the millennium and to Phoenix, Arizona. As our first meeting in the new millennium, it is quite fitting that it takes place at a geographical crossroads where the ancient world of the Anasazi first encountered the European world five centuries ago.

Our Program Chair, Tamer Cavusgil, has outdone himself in the preparation for this program. A record number of papers and panel sessions were received and Tamer, together with his superb program committee and staff, have whittled it down to a remarkable set of offerings. I am certain that all of us will find it intellectually stimulating and fulfilling. The conference theme of Relevance is one that is also particularly timely. Global business is undergoing a dramatic transformation, driven by the twin forces of political change and technological revolution. You will find both of these influences present throughout the program. It is imperative that we, as scholars of international business, impress the sense of urgency and relevance that these forces imply upon all our work.

I want to express our deep gratitude to Bob Grosse and the able team at Thunderbird, who have worked tirelessly to make this meeting an enjoyable and culturally rich experience. I am sure you will agree with me that their efforts have been very much worthwhile and are deeply appreciated by all of us.

As you know, your Executive Board will be stepping down at the end of this year having completed our turn at the AIB's rudder. On behalf of all of them, and our phenomenal Secretariat staff, let me thank all of you for making this meeting the success that it is, and for allowing us the privilege of serving our Academy. We wish you a fruitful, insightful and enjoyable meeting.

José de la Torre
President

Welcome to the 2000 Annual Meeting of the Academy of International Business! I believe the 2000 program has shaped up to be a forum for an exceptionally rich intellectual discourse. A diverse and large group of colleagues from around the world have contributed an array of most interesting papers, symposia, and panels. I am particularly pleased about the high number of first-time participants at this annual meeting. I hope that you all will come back because your association has the capacity to be an excellent forum for all of us in education, business practice, and public policy, where we are able to share diverse perspectives and engage in meaningful cross-disciplinary, cross-functional, and cross-cultural exchange. The AIB is vying to be a platform for you to disseminate the fruits of your research and experiences, and to provide ongoing professional growth and stimulation.

This year's conference theme, "In Search of Relevance for International Business Research: Impact on Management and Public Policy," has received an enthusiastic reception from the AIB members and beyond. A large number of proposals was received in response to our call for critically examining the relevance and impact of IB scholarship for business practice and public policy. Practically every slot in the three-day program offers an opportunity to examine IB research from the perspective of business, industry, and public policy. Many senior corporate executives and public policy makers volunteered their valuable time and expertise for the Phoenix conference; we sincerely appreciate their willingness to create this meaningful dialogue.

The response to this year's Call for papers was indeed gratifying. We received a record number of submissions from both the AIB members and others. All in all, some 328 papers and 59 special session proposals were processed. The majority of the submissions came from the corporate strategy (41%) and marketing (18%) tracks. These were followed by HRM and OB (16%) and Economics and Finance (16%). Some 44 percent of the paper submissions came from outside of the United States, reflecting our growing non-U.S. constituency. Fortunately, we had introduced an innovation to this year's paper reviewing process – a computer assisted system that allowed colleagues to submit their papers electronically, receive confirmation and other correspondence by email, for reviewers to receive their manuscript assignments electronically, and submit their reviews in the same manner. As it turned out, the AIB membership was ready for the electronic age as some 77 percent of the paper submissions were submitted electronically! Furthermore, some 70 percent of our reviewers, who had been contacted earlier about their willingness to receive manuscripts electronically, complied with our request to participate in the new reviewing system.

This computerized system substantially cut down the manuscript processing time, provided an efficient editorial system, and led to greater author and reviewer satisfaction. We are grateful to Mr. Tunga Kiyak, a doctoral candidate in international business at Michigan State University, for programming an original Microsoft Access application to handle the electronic submission process. We have already made this program available to program chairs of future AIB conferences.

I must acknowledge the assistance of so many people who made my job as the Conference Chair much easier and rewarding. First, the manuscript reviewers. Over 280 colleagues helped out with the timely and constructive manuscript reviews. Since each manuscript was sent out to at least two reviewers, the demand for their expertise was taxing. We are grateful for their valued judgments. Secondly, many colleagues and doctoral students at Michigan State University helped out with many chores relating to the conference programming. The expert assistance was received from Professor Atilla Yaprak (Wayne State University), and Professor Stewart Miller was especially critical to the success of this conference. MSU doctoral candidates assisted in so many ways, and they include Rosanna Garcia, Som Hanvanich, Daekwan Kim, Tunga Kiyak, Tony Roath, Katrina Savitskie, Elif Sonmez, and Sam Zhao.

Coordinating the AIB 2000 Program Office at MSU was Ms. Tamie Phetteplace, Executive Assistant, who always provided cheerful and expert assistance at every stage in the program preparation. Her hard work, organization, and coordination have been invaluable to us. Ms. Beverly Riedinger, Assistant Director of MSU-CIBER, rounded up the AIB 2000 program team. She provided frequent liaison with the staff at Pointe Hilton at Tapatio Cliffs, as well as Thunderbird. We also appreciated the professional assistance of Mr. Randy Shain at Ponite Hilton. I believe the entire Pointe Hilton staff worked very hard to make our stay a memorable one at this beautiful southwestern resort. Finally, we must acknowledge the kind assistance of Ms. Laurel King of the AIB Executive Office at various stages of the conference planning and implementation.

Certainly, conferences of this type and magnitude require much coordination and planning from so many people, and this was not the exception. We hope that you will take advantage of the rich experience the AIB 2000 annual meeting affords, and make the most of it. Welcome to the AIB 2000 and enjoy the conference!

THUNDERBIRD

THE AMERICAN GRADUATE SCHOOL
OF INTERNATIONAL MANAGEMENT

September 13, 2000

Dear Members of the Academy of International Business:

It is my pleasure to welcome you to Phoenix and to the annual meeting of the Academy, on behalf of Thunderbird, The American Graduate School of International Management. We are proud to be the local sponsors of the event this year, and I am sure that you will enjoy the gala dinner at the Heard Museum and other activities arranged by Thunderbird, in addition to the sessions and the other interaction with colleagues and friends.

Given our School's mission in international business education, and the fact that almost two dozen of our faculty members are AIB members, we are particularly happy to be the local hosts for the meeting this year. We hope that as many of you as possible will make the 20-minute trip over to our campus during the AIB meetings, to see our facilities, faculty, and students.

As many of you know, we have about 1,300 full-time students from 80 countries studying for their Master's of International Management (MIM) degrees, along with 120 faculty members in our three departments of World Business, International Studies, and Modern Languages. In addition, we receive about 4,000 executives each year in a variety of international executive business programs here on campus, as well as at our French Geneva and Tokyo Centers, and at other locations around the world.

Another program of note is our joint degree, MIM Latin America, offered with our Mexico partner, ITESM, and delivered via satellite to about 250 managers and executives at several locations in Latin America.

I hope you will be able to take advantage of your visit here, to see not only our campus, but also the spectacular State of Arizona, from the desert to the mountains.

Best regards,

Golf Tournament

Pointe Golf Course on Lookout Mountain
Tapatio Cliffs Pointe Hilton Hotel and Resort
Friday, November 17, 2000

Glenn Omura of Michigan State University has kindly volunteered to organize a golf tournament for the AIB meeting in Phoenix.

The hotel's magnificent par-72 Bill Johnston course has garnered many honors, weaving through rugged terrain that borders the Phoenix Mountain Preserve and offering spectacular views of both Lookout Mountain and Squaw Peak. Golf Digest named it one of the 450 best public courses in the country, and Lookout Mountain has been consistently voted one of the top 25 golf courses in the state of Arizona. The course has hosted The Arizona Senior Classic, the NBC Skills Challenge and the Western States Tour. This is an exciting course for players of all skill levels, with a combination of both desert and traditional golf layouts.

Valuable prizes will be awarded for longest drive, longest putt, closest to the hole, etc. The Callaway handicapping system will be used to compute total scores.

The price includes Greens fees, golf car fees, 1 sleeve of 3 balls, practice balls, course information guides and applicable taxes. Gentlemen are required to wear a sleeved shirt with collar; ladies are not permitted to wear halter-tops or swimsuit tops. Please avoid denim products. Soft spike preferred.

Play begins at 9:00 a.m. with a shotgun start on Friday. The first Conference event begins at 6:00 p.m. on Friday.

Interested parties should complete the form below and attach it to their registration forms. Payment must be included with your registration fee in order to reserve your spot. Please direct questions regarding the tournament to the coordinator Glenn Omura <omura@msu.edu> via e-mail.
